COUNCIL SHELVES BUILDING CODE

"Well By Heck"

BY UNKEL JOSH

Quote: "Come thou and reign over us!"—Judges 9:10.

I wuz a tellin' Old Bill ov a kinda kweer thing thet happened in my garden this summer. Now I allus plant a dozen early tomato an' a doz. early cabbage plants as soon as I kin git the ground plowed in the spring, so as yuzuel this spring I went down tew Sam's place an got me the yusuel doz plants, took 'em home an set 'em owt with great kare an mi littel hand trowel. Wel sir they growed rite along nisely an' I've had ripe tomatoes, an awl we wanted ever sinse the middel ov July. I set owt the cabbages likewise an' wun ov them heddied up reel early. It wuz wun ov the most perfect heds ov kabbage I hav ever sean, an it hedded up early, an' az mi old an esteemed frend Dock Konkel likes biled kabbage like a dutch man likes bier, my wife sez, "lets give it to him! Alrite sezzi an' we'll jest apply it on whot I owe him. Ye see he's docktered me fur 4 or 5 yeres an' I aint pade him enything so far thinkin I mite die in spite ov him. But I figger that I owe him at least a kabbage a yere an so I'le onli owe him 4 more kabbages at the most an' mebby by Nov. I kin skweeze owt another payment an' then Ile only hav tew raze two extra wuns next yere tew git him awl pade up. Gosh I'm glad he likes kabbage fur they air eezy tew grow. Wel sir sumpin' must ov happened tew the rest ov the doz fur only 2 moar hedded up, the rest of 'em wuz nuthin' but leaves but I've sevral nise heds uv late wuns that I planted frum the seed. An' Ile garantee that thare aint moar than wun worm tew the leaf. But ov koarse yew kant taste 'em in sour krout!

I think that one of the most inspiring uplifting truly American speeches I ever had the pleasure of listening to, one that should go down in history, almost if not quite on a par with Lincoln's Gettysburg address, was given over the radio Wednesday evening Sept 17th by Gabriel Heater.

I think that our American politics are a disgrace in the manner in which the various candidates for office pour out their spleen and venom against their opponents. For instance, Truman and Isenhower, a few months ago Truman was Isenhower's best friend and gave him the highest military position it was in his power to confer and even wanted him to run for President until he found that "Ike" was a republican. Now look at them, each one saying the things about each other that if true would unfit either one of them for dog warden let alone the high office of President of the United States.

Guess Ile vote fur Norm Thomas he runs an' never is 'lected, but at that, if he is as good an ole scout az hiz bro. Lowell he mite maik a mitey good President, he koodent do much wurse than sum we've had. Jest think ef yew had the toothake yewed go tew the dentist ur vet. an hav her yanked owt an' jest say "charge it tew Unkel Sam", an if yew had the belly-ake yewd—wel whot wood yew dew, thairs so menny peepul belly-akin' now thet Unkel Sam wood hav tew import sum Doktors. I gess Ile jist try to git along with a hed ake az most evrybuddy haz them an' a aspirin tablet will nock it hier than Gilderoys kite fur tha dew say it went tew the moon, but if ole Gilderoy lived now he ain't seen enything yet, fur it wood keep him gessin' tew fly it hier than the Nashunal Det.—but why bring that up fer everything iz agoin' tew be awl-rite—ur Jake—as they say now, jest az soon Ikenson iz lected President. Maybe this iz jest sum moar, "Josh".

Nine To Report Oct. 1st for Duty

Nine men have been ordered to report for the October draft that leaves Charlevoix at 9:30 a.m. Oct. 1st.

VanHoesen Named To Assistant Postmaster Post

Stanley, "Stub" Van Hoesen, cheif clerk at the Boyne City postoffice has been appointed to the position of assistant postmaster it was disclosed by the postal department here this week.

The appointment of Van Hoesen marks the first time the local post office has had an assistant postmaster since the late Leo Willson held that position according to Postmaster Roy Winegarden.

Winegarden explained that the appointment was based upon the receipts of the local office and recepits had been sufficiently high enough to merit the appointment of an assistant for some time.

Van Hoesen has approximately 27 years service with the department.

The city council had the "S.R. O." sign at the doors Monday night as more than 50 spectators jammed into the chambers to voice their sentiments regarding a proposed building code.

Like other recent sessions of the council, there were the usual verbal explosions, but the meeting was marked with a seriousness of purpose and an attendance that will probably set a modern-day record. The meeting also marked a new high in audience participation as the code was digested piecemeal by the council.

But before the council sidestepped immediate action on the issue by voting to bring the code up for further hearing, there was two hours and 20 minutes of intensive discussion in which citizens, Archie Sutton, Lloyd Ballard, Phil Green, Floyd Edson, Harold Saffran, Robert Richardson, and others shot questions at Mayor Arbuckle, Attorney Dudleigh Ruegsegger, and the council.

Principal items of contention in the proposed code involved the office of city building inspector whom many of the audience felt was granted too much authority in accepting or rejecting construction and repair applications.

As each point of contention was brought up for discussion, Dudleigh Ruegsegger, consulting attorney, cited the points in the code which could be amended, appealed, rejected, and its relation to or derivation from state statutes.

Clarence Dickhout, visitor, and member of the Cadillac, Mich., city board of appeals told the audience how building and zoning ordinances worked for the protection of all classes of people in Cadillac.

Ruegsegger explained that a similar code to the one under discussion is automatically enforced by the state in cities of 100,000 population and over, and that many cities under the minimum population for state enforcement use sections of various state codes in adopting local codes.

He told the audience that the code under question was arranged of extracts from the Mechanics Act, the Electrician's Code and the Plumber's Code.

As the various points of the code were discussed, Mayor Arbuckle specifically called for comments from those in the audience who were familiar with electrical and plumbing code requirements.

Although plumbers Allie Chipman, Wm. Benser, Clare Brooks, and Ralph Moore were present they offered no objection to the inclusion of the plumbers code in the building code. When Mayor Arbucle asked if anyone in the audience knew what per cent of plumbing now done in the city would comply with the code, he got a jumbled reply that about 90 per cent didn't comply. The commentator was not identified.

Throughout the reading of the code by Clerk Emma Sundquist, minor points were raised from time to time, until the entire code was covered. At the conclusion of the reading Mayor Arbuckle sounded sentiment by asking if there were any comments.

Robert Richardson, north Boyne resident, then stepped forward and presented a petition with 171 signatures protesting the adoption of the code.

Turning to several members of the audience who had identified themselves as signers of the petition Arbuckle asked: "Are there any of you who might have changed your minds since you signed these petitions—especially after hearing the explanations of the code here tonight?"

The signers all indicated that they hadn't changed their minds.

Third Ward Alderman Boyd Heaton then summarized his standpoint on the code. He stated that he couldn't see any use in Boyne City having a code. "My grandparents helped settle this town" he said, "and we've always gotten along without any rules and regulations. We don't need anyone coming into town six months ago telling us how to run this city. It would make it impossible for poor people to build in this community if this code went through and I'm against it."

Following his remarks, a move for adjournment was entered and Alderman Heaton again took the floor to state: "I want everyone to know that what I say up here is as a councilman and not as a private citizen. When I leave this room, I'm a private citizen."

Whereupon Mayor Arbuckle quipped: "You mean when you're buying movie tickets don't you?"

The meeting adjourned.

Boyne Looks Good in Opener with Onaway

by T. J. Gar

Boyne City opened their gridiron season last Friday with a 19-0 victory over Onaway.

The first quarter was a see-saw battle with neither team threatening. It wasn't until late in the second quarter that the Ramblers got their first chance to score. Ron West on fourth down punted the ball from Boyne's 5. It was an easy catch for Onaway's safety man, but it got away from him on the 35 yard line and he couldn't pick it up. Instead he kept booting it backwards until the Ramblers recovered it on the two. Three plays later Don Arner, the fullback, took it over from the one foot line. Shorty Smith missed the attempt for the extra point making the score 6-0.

The third quarter was a one sided affair with Boyne having possession of the ball most of the quarter. The turning point of the quarter was an intercepted pass by Arner which enabled the scarlet and blue to march fifty yards for their second TD. Denny Pratt scored from the four yard line through the right side of the line, aided by Gary Newville, freshman halfback, who brought the ball down in scoring territory. Smith made the conversion making it 13-0.

The scoring ended in the fourth quarter when Pratt scored again from his ten yard line with an end run. He also was given credit for two thirty-five yard runs. Smith missed the extra point.

The Ramblers were superior in rushing with 195 yards against Onaway's 36. Boyne attempted only one pass while Onaway tried 20 completing only 6.

Boy Scouts Plan Wednesday Meets

Boy Scouts will meet every Wednesday evening at the I.O.O.F. hall between the hours of 7:30 and 8:30, Donald Sutton, newly appointed scoutmaster for the Boyne City troop has announced.

In their first outing of the season the scouts went to Whiting park Sunday for a picnic and recreational activity.

Nimrods To Open Season on Oct. 1st

Boyne City hunters may start shooting cottontail rabbits, snowshoe hares and racoons on October 1.

And starting October 1, gray squirrels may be taken in all western counties of the upper peninsula, pheasants may be taken in a portion of Menominee county and woodchucks are legal game in the northern lower peninsula.

In general, these openings herald a season that will provide more opportunities for Michigan hunters. Greater hunter pressure is expected on all species because of longer seasons, more advantageous opening dates, and peak game crops on many species.

Though the upper peninsula cottontail and snowshoe season remains the same—October 1-March 1—an extra 44 days hunting is slated in the northern lower peninsula, the season to run October 1-March 1, while in the southern lower peninsula an additional 26 days is authorized, the season to run October 20-January 31. Last year, 299,000 hunters took 1,300,000 cottontails. And an estimated 74,000 hunters took 396,000 snowshoe hares.

Raccoons are expected to provide considerable sport in the northern lower peninsula because of the October 1 opening, allowing a full month of earlier, better weather for coon hunting. A heavier kill is expected than last year, when a record 110,000 were taken by hunters and trappers, but this is expected to have little effect on the coon population as a whole.

The lower peninsula woodchuck season will be longer by 14 days in the north portion, running October 1-January 31, and 25 days longer in the south half, running October 20-January 31. Michigan hunters place little emphasis on chucks, but the department expects a total kill somewhat higher than last year, when 7,400 were taken.

City To "Force" Bay Street Re-Opening

The city council, Monday night, in special session, gave Street Commissioner Lyle Wangeman full authority to re-open a section of platted street that has kicked around the city council room since it was closed by councilor action in 1931.

Principals in the controversy that once again brought the section of Water street, now known as Bay street, before the attention of the council this time are: Robt Richardson, property owner along Bay street and the vacated portion abutting his property, and Joseph Wolf, of Detroit, who recently purchased lake frontage from Mr. Treff Heteu, Salesman for Noel & Krieg, Realtors.

Wolf sought councilor aid in obtaining access to his property along that vacated portion of Water street. Richardson has told the council that Wolf's property was accessible from other streets and requested (verbally) that the vacated portion be left alone.

At Monday night's meeting Attorney Guy C. Conkle, jr., was asked to give his opinion of the city's action in closing the street in 1931. He cited details of the transaction in which the late Judge Vreeland had secured the closing of the street in a special session of the council. Conkle stated that in his opinion the street had never been closed inasmuch as a state law of 1927 states that any street or road within 5 rods of a lake may not be vacated except by action of circuit court.

Several attempts at peaceful settlement of the situation appeared to bog down at Monday night's meeting. After Mayor Arbuckle asked Robert Richardson if there was anything he wished to say regarding it, he replied: "If the street is opened, I'm going to fight. The east end is closed and as far as I'm concerned its going to stay closed."

Richardson added: "I'd advise you gentlemen to think it over. I'll bring out some facts that might make some red faces around this town."

Arbuckle then cautioned Richardson not to be "so sarcastic" and Richardson shot back, "Don't ask me anything then."

As the verbal battle spread to various principals at the council table, Boyd Heaton, third ward alderman, said: "By God, let's put her (the road) through."

Heaton then introduced a motion that the city authorized the street department to improve that portion of Water street now known as Bay street. It was seconded by Councilman Capelin and passed by the council unanimously.

Street Commissioner Lyle Wangeman disclosed that he was starting work on the reopening of the street today. If Richardson contests the re-opening an injunction and possibly a long court case may ensue.

Registration

Throughout the state this week and next are being observed as Registration Week by proclamation of G. Mennen Williams, governor of the state.

Various agencies ranging from the Boy Scouts to the American Legion are engaged in a Get-Out-the-Vote Campaign on a major scale.

Ramblers in Under-Dog Role on Eve of Clash with Rayders

There was no "pre-game tapering off" for the Ramblers this week as they prepared for their toughest opponent of the past several years —the Red Rayders— whom they meet at Kipke field tomorrow.

Plagued with injuries and the loss of Mert Erber, quarterback, Coach Weede patched up his forces and continued the training drive up to game time as he sought plug holes in the Rambler's offensive and defensive strategy.

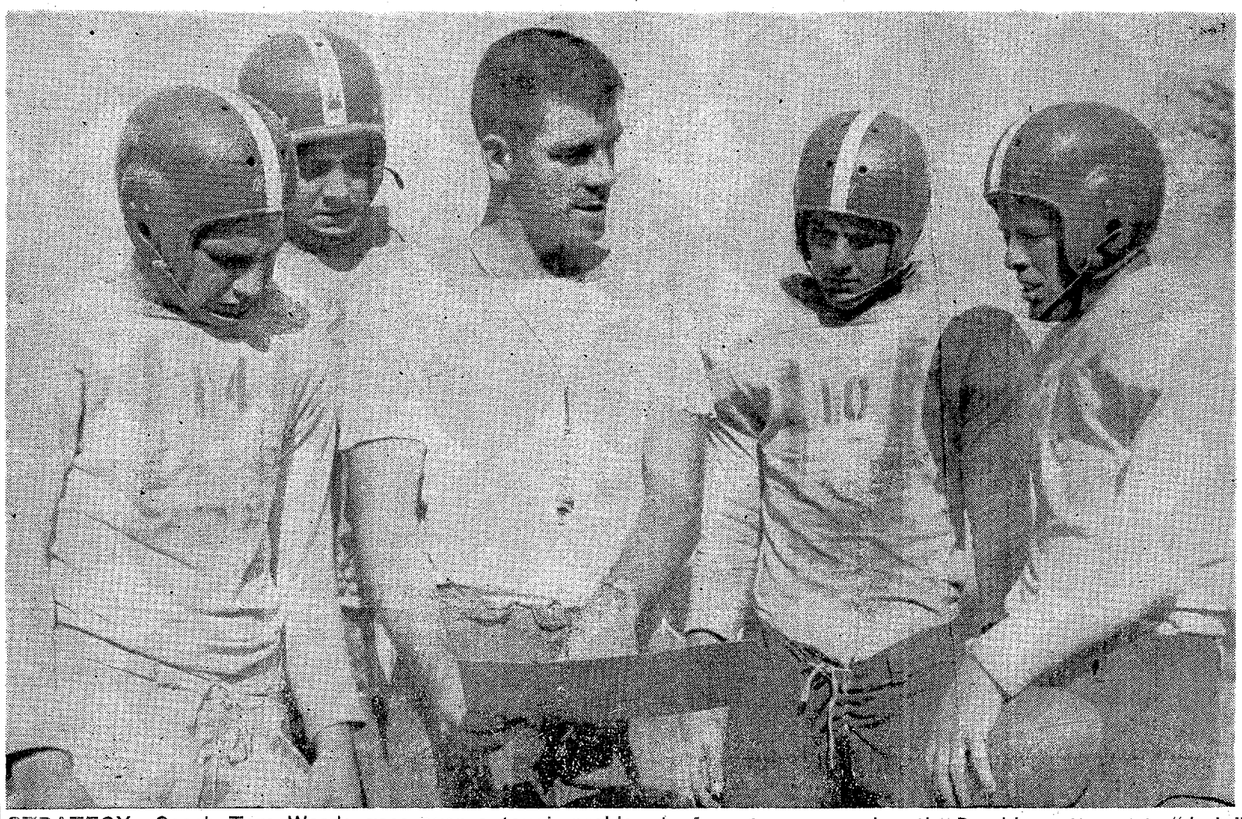

Gordon Capelin is slated to do a "fill-in" at guard for Ed Boyer who received a kidney injury in the Onaway game. Denny Pratt, utility back, is learning the plays to fill in at the signal calling post for Mert Erber who has been sidelined by the doctor.

Weede disclosed that Chub Rothenberger would probably get a starting assignment at Pratt's old post as left half, while Newville and Arner would make up the balance of the backfield.

Boyne goes into tomorrow's conflict in the role of underdog but with a fine performance in their opener against Onaway to their credit. Del Terril's Rayders have three regulars from last season's squad plus several lettermen who will be playing their first game of '52 in the Boyne clash.

Included in the list of Rayder regulars will be Bobo Bennett back at quarterback; Jim Lewis, left half; Joe McDermott or Jerry Albright, at right half; and Paul Johnson or Bob Joliffe at full.

Terril has an unusually heavy list of hopefuls to pick from with 55 candidates competing for the 11 berths open on the Rayder squad. Many of these saw plenty of service last year under freshman coach Pete Bruns who grooms up the prospects for Terril's varsity squad.

STRATEGY—Coach Tom Weede goes over a tough problem he faces tomorrow when the Ramblers attempt to "do-in" the Rayders who have been doing it all in conference circles for the past five years. Left to right are: Shorty Smith, Ron West, Don Arner and Denny Pratt.

Boyne Falls Crash Victims Improving

All three victims of a two-car crash that occurred at Boyne Falls Saturday afternoon were reported by Little Traverse hospital as "improving," Wednesday, but two are still on the critical list.

Injured were: Mrs. Lucille Parker and son, John, 13, of Petoskey and Steve Kondrat, 58, of Boyne Falls.

The full extent of Kondrat's injuries has not been determined. He is believed to have suffered fractures and internal injuries. John Parker received severe scalp lacerations; both he and Kondrat are on the critical list. Mrs. Parker suffered severe bruises.

The accident occurred about 3:30 p.m. Saturday on US-131 within the village limits of Boyne Falls when the south-bound car driven by Mrs. Parker crashed into a light sedan Kondrat was backing out of a driveway. The force of the crash was believed to have thrown Kondrat from his car which was reported to have then rolled over onto him.

State police of the Gaylord post have indicated they would take testimony from the crash victims as soon as they have recovered sufficiently. There were no witnesses to the crash which startled the village.

Nothing But Good Can Come of It

Monday night they packed the council chambers. "They" are the rank and file that make up the community of Boyne City—and it was the first time (in recent years at least) that such an assemblage had gathered together to see their governing body in action. The issue at stake was the "building code."

The oratory concerning it ranged from well-delivered, well analyzed discussions to arguments of specious nature. Too frequently they were too personal. Sometimes the arguments were too irrelevant.

But there was no doubt about one point—Boyne citizen's had at least dropped the apathy that has surrounded all relations with their government. Possibly it was a matter of mis-representation that accounted for such a large, eager, and interested audience. Possibly, it was due to the very nature of the topic to be discussed that resulted in the large attendance, and possibly it was due to the advance publicity given the event. Regardless of the cause, the important thing was that "they" did turn out for the event.

When people "turn-out" for anything progress is on the way. We hold no brief for those who would shelve the whole thing (the building code) and hark back to an era that glorifies the tar paper shack and the two hole privy as a symbol of rugged American individualism. And we hold no brief for those who would wield the big stick in suppressing the rights of individuals. No automobile is ever manufactured, no law ever adopted, no war plan ever made (except in dictatorships) that is not subject to argument, revision, and alteration, before production is started or a plan adopted.

The conference in industry, government, and civic matters has become a symbol of the manner in which Democracy makes its way. Thus, when the pros and cons met Monday night to state their cases before their elders they gave evidence that they were at least interested enough to start the wheels of progress groaning. There were those who would like to jam the accelerator against the floor boards and there were the "unreconstructed" who would cling to the city's privvy culture either through sincere belief or as a matter of political expediency, and there were those who sat on their hands all evening—saying nothing, but probably thinking the whole thing through to a logical conclusion. The issue isn't dead. Its outcome will probably have to be settled at the polls.

And in the meantime, every prospective voter should weigh the merits of the issue they will be called upon to decide. Too frequently, the ostensible arguments put forward either for or against an issue have a deep meaning like the traditional still waters that run deep.

Michigan voters cast twice as many votes in the 1952 primaries as they did in the last presidential year, '48.

But at least one observer isn't handing out any laurels for that record.

He's closely identified with a major political party and so he doesn't want to be named. In this close-fought campaign, one observation such as this might lose the race.

Governor Stevenson's remark about "the mess in Washington" has certainly been thrown back at him enough and Eisenhower was quick to seize upon the levity with which the Illinois governor spoke of Korea in an unguarded moment.

So this political expert stays anonymous . . . but not silent.

"Everybody is getting all excited because 58 per cent of the registered voters went to the polls.

"But they completely overlook the fact that only 81 per cent of our eligibles in Michigan are even registered. Take 58 per cent of 81 per cent and you get a measly total of people above 21 who exercised their privilege—and duty—of the ballot.

"Add to that the fact that an awfully lot of the primary voters were practically hog-tied and dragged to the polls by service clubs and civic organizations that has "Get Out the Vote' campaigns.

"Put them all together and you get a picture of a state that doesn't care a whooping darn about the most crucial election we've had in a generation. I say crucial and I don't care what party you lean toward."

In 1948, the total votes in the gubernatorial primary, in both parties, was 715,834. In August this year, there were 1,436,675 votes cast on the Republican ballot where competition was keen and on the Democratic one where Governor Williams was doing a solo act.

The same increase held in the senatorial primary. In '48 the total was 637,576 and in '52 it rose of 1,340,858.

The upswing this year isn't due entirely—or even in greater part—to a population growth. Something has kindled a fire in the voters.

Wherether it's the fresh personalities on the national scene, the issues of corruption that have aroused citizens in both parties, or the reawakening of public interest due to campaigns staged by Michigan newspapers, great and small, to get people to the polls, no one can say with finality.

One thing is sure. Not only Michigan but the whole nation can well better their previous records.

In 1940, two out of three persons of voting age went to the polls. Four years ago barely one out of two voted. While, from '40 to '48, over 14 million more people became eligible to vote, the number of votes actually cast decreased by more than 3 million.

Only 16 per cent of the total population elected Harry Truman president.

Whether his election was good or bad depends, of course, on the political affiliation of the assayer. But no patriotic American, Democrat or Republican, will be happy over a decision made by such a minority of his countrymen.

If Michigan voters don't break all records come November, it won't be for a lack of the wooing. Campaign plans on both sides of the fence call for the most concerted onslaught on the electorate in history.

Michigan is a key state in both national campaigns and neither the GOP nor the Democrats can count it in the bag. That's why both Ike and Adlai have, and will, make major speeches here.

The Moody-Potter senatorial campaign will be watched closely by the whole nation. That result may play a dominant part in the makeup of the new Congress.

Communism may be another indication of just how much the Amercian public is aroused and alarmed by Red infiltration. Many Michigan observers believe that Sen. MacCarthry's victory in Wisconsin was less an endorsement of his methods than approval of his vigor in fighting domestic Communism.

Potter is playing that theme for all it's worth.

One Congressional election will have more of an effect on Michigan than it customarily does. That's the one in the Eleventh District, bordering the Straits.

Potter left its Congressional seat to seek a place in the Senate. In the Republican primary, Victor A. Knox of the Soo was chosen to carry the GOP standard and is expected to be a shoo-in come November.

That leaves Knox's old job of Speaker of the House vacant. Who succeeds him will have a big bearing on Michigan's internal affairs.

The shutdown of Great Lakes freighter runs during the steel strike should cause no coal shortage in Michigan this Winter.

The idled ships were those that hauled ore down from Lake Superior and carried coal back up on their return. Most of their loads are dumped in the Duluth area for trans-shipment westward.

Michigan gets its coal in the main from Toledo and only a very slight deficit resulted from the steel strike . . . well under 200,000 tons.

Of course, John L. Lewis can change the picture in the flick of one of his king-size eyebrows. A coal strike—possibly to regain personal political power Lewis has lost—would play hob with more than Michigan.

Michigan lost one popular insurance policy against John L.'s whims.

The last working mine in Saginaw county—and in the whole Central Michigan area—closed this Summer at St. Charles. Owned cooperatively by the men who worked it, the mine was granted special dispensation by Lewis to stay open during strikes.

Many a Saginaw Valley home stayed warm during mine shutdowns, thanks to the St. Charles mine.

Today not even a ripple remains to mark the last stronghold of the once-mighty coal mining industry of lower Michigan.

Cobblin's

by KERNEL KORN

Maybe you gals ain't read of the G.D. Corsets. The flimsy stuff that you see advertised in Mamselle and the Companion ain't got a thing on the G.D. Corsets. Just listen to this copy concerning them: "THE G.D. CORSETS—Just Right—Phew! But, it's long, but not a sixteenth part of an inch too long for the figure for which it is intended, which is that of the large woman, tall and stately, Not a part of the form can get away from the corset. This is a corset that has been thoroughly tested and that has stood the test. The hardest test we can give it is a shape that the form is dignified by. It is comfortable—quite as comfortable as any garment you have ever worn, comfortable standing, sitting, or walking. It is made to wear not to rust, break, or tear."

The above copy on the G.D. Corsets was taken from a 1909 issue of the Boyne Citizen submitted to the Citizen by Harry Fall, Deer Lake Road, who found a couple of them kicking around his farm house.

The corsets were a "hot item" being offered for sale by Simon Dosie who made a fortune here in women's garments back in the good old days when all the smart boys were planning fire sales, shipping their dough to Canada before going bankrupt, and looking up new locations to start into business as they smelled the end of the glorious timber era.

Those were also the days when the Boyne City and Southeastern Railroad ran three trains daily to Boyne Falls and back.

Our cub reporter went out to interview Charley Brugger about the steak fry he was planning for the boys in case they defeated Charlevoix, Friday and then wound up asking him the dumb question of the week when he asked: "Where you going to hold the steak fry—at Rainbow?"

And then Brugger bribed the Cub with coffee at half price to put it in this column that he'd just played his first game of Scotch shinny at Ye Nyne Olde Holles Golf Course with Loton Willson and Mrs. Willson as caddie. He toured the course in 82 and has witnesses.

We got a big boot out of seeing our yarn about Kent Freeland being reprinted in the October edition of Reader's Digest, page 108. To the best of our knowledge, its the first time this popular little magazine has ever carried any kind of a story in which the name of Boyne City is mentioned.

Thad Hegerberg is the youngest piano player with a steady job in 'these hyar parts." Thad, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arne Hegerberg, is now the piano player for the Boyne City Rotary club and beats out such Rotary boogies as "Grand Father's Clock."

We got advance dope from Bob Bryan that "Jambolaya," or "On the Bayou," is scheduled to be No. 1 tune in the U. S. next week. It will be followed by "Dooleytown Fifer," a platter that hasn't made its appearance in local Jukes yet.

LOOKING AHEAD

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

THIS MAN IS WHIPPED

Last week in Little Rock I visited a small business. The owner has a problem that he can't solve. No one person can solve it. The unified action of millions of citizens would be required. My friend's problem is high taxes. His story and his problem is one that should concern every American.

Twenty years ago he made his living working flat on his back on the grease-spattered concrete floor of a little neighborhood garage, probing the insides of road-worn automobiles. He was a mechanic's helper. But he was ambitious. Occasionally he would buy a junkheap car and at nights work it over mechanically. Then he'd advertise it in the paper. Each sale brought a few dollars profit. On such shoestring financing, and with a large capacity for work, he gradualy established a little one-man business. By 1940 he was making a comfortable living, had remodeled his home and was looking forward eargerly to expanding his business and employing other persons.

Can't Get Ahead

When I visited him last week he grinned good-humoredly and said: "I guess I've got 'the small businessman's blue.'" He explained that although his business was better than ever before, and his annual gross profit larger, the problem of taxes had him "whipped." His gross profit each month for the past three years had been between $1,000 and $1,500. And yet he is not getting ahead sufficiently to give him the sought-after feeling of security.

"Every three months," he said, "I've got to scrape up $900 to $1,000 for federal income taxes. Taking it out of operaitng capital is not easy. There are only my wife and I at home, but my household expenses are just about double, in dollars, what they were four or five years ago." He pays a healthy state income tax, a number of state and federal fees for doing business, and has to employ an accountant to keep the various records required by the state and federal governments.

In a Rut

"At the end of each of the last five years,' he laments, "I found that my bank account had only a few hundred dollars more in it than when the year began. And inflation more than cancelled out this gain. It's not so much the problem of making money. I could make more. I could expand my business, employ two more men and probably boost my gross profits at least 30 per cent. I want to do this.

"But in any business expansion you've got to invest capital, and there always is an element of chance. I would take the chance if it weren't for the fact that if I did boost my profit 30 per cent I would then be in an income tax bracket in which I'd be working half of my time to earn money to pay taxes; and in the end I would have only a few hundred dollars more each year. It's not worth it. So I'm in a rut. Taxes and the high cost of living have whipped me into submission. I've no incentive for further progress."

Killing Incentive

Here we have an example of the killing of the very incentive that has provided the driving force in the building of America through making more jobs and producing more good. Big government and big taxes are doing it. As I walked from my friend's place of business, I began thinking about government's dominant place in our lives. In the last 30 or 40 years it has become an economic crutch for about 25 milion people now directly and indirectly on government pay rolls, a powerful controling influence in the whole social, economic, and business pattern of the nation. More and more the population is coming to be dependent on government for more and more things that used to be done by the people for themselves.

Let's suppose that a band of Americans felt that socialism and enslavement were inevitable here and they picked up and moved to an island in the Pacfic to start a new nation. What kind of government would they devise on their island? Would it be set up to abolish the hardships of primitive living and provide cradle-to-grave and security? Or would it be a small non-burdensome government restricted to keeping the peace and protecting individual freedom? If they chose the latter they would be doing exactly what another group of Americans did — 345 years ago. These were the first American settlers of Jamestown and Plymouth Rock. When they got around to forming a government its principal funtions were to keep the peace, protect individual freedom and promote the general welfare. It promoted the general welfare not by taxing away incentive but by enlarging incentive. That's how America grew up. It is the key to human progress.

The wild goose has been known to live as long as seventy years. Only vultures and parrots are said to have longer life spans.

Meet Your Ramblers

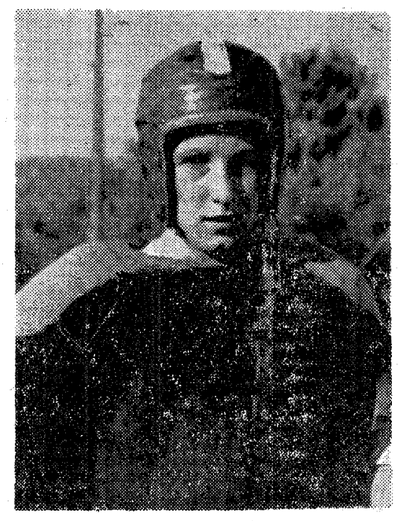

Temporarily out of service because of an injury suffered in the opener against Onaway, Ed Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Boyer, South Shore road, is expected to be back in the lineup within a week. A junior, Ed held down a regular berth as guard with this year's squad until he suffered the back injury in the Onaway game.

Elmer Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Howard, plays a fullback position with the junior varsity. The 15-year-old freshman weighs 140 pounds and saw service with the junior high basketball team. To fill-in and help pay his own way, Elmer has a Sunday paper route as a working project and spends his summer time leisure hours in the old Half-Moon swimming hole.

Merle Karlskin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Karlskin, is the Rambler's first line center. A senior, he also works out with the Rambler track team where he pole vaults and runs the hurdles. During the summer months Merle has helped to pay his own way by working with his brother Jim in Lansing. He likes centering because 'you don't have to be too gentle."

Ralph Towne, another freshman, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Towne of Pleasant Valley. He's trying out at an end spot in his first "try" at athletic competition. In his war togs, he tips the scales at 110 pounds and is busily filling that out to extra dimensions by regular sessions at the dinner table and the dessert bar.

Meet the Real Tallulah

What is the reason for Tallulah Bankhead's unconventional behavior, prima donna temper, her tantrums and her lustry conversation? Maurice Zolotow has a surprising explanation for her spectacular career. Read "This is the Real Tallulah", starting in this Sunday's (Sept. 28) issue of the Weekly, exclusively with The Degreat Color Gravure American troit Sunday Times.

Scoots 2,700 Miles

Brewer, Me.—Mrs. Robert B. Thompson mde a 2,700-mile trip here by motor scooter from her home at Arlington, Tex. She did it in 45 days.

Another account, written by James J. Strang, July 14, the day following the battle, and published in the Detroit Daily Advertisers, is as follows: "The sheriff of Emmet County went to Pine River to summon grand jurors, who had been duly drawn, and who resided there. He went with two boats and fourteen men, all unarmed. As the party was about to re-embark, after completing their business, they were attacked by forty men who opened a brisk fire of musketry upon them from the bluff. They could make no resistance but hurried off in their boats. They were then pursued by three boats for fifteen miles which kept up the fire upon them the whole time they were within range. At this distance the sheriff and his party were taken up by the Bark Morgan, Capt. Stone commanding, and so the affair ended. Six of the sheriff's party were wounded, but none, it is thought, mortally."

Further particulars were furnished by Capt. Stone of the Bark Morgan, as follows:

"Bark Morgan from Saginaw for Chicago. July 13th, 6 o'clock p.m. 1853.

"Off head Beaver Island, fifteen miles from the main, opposite Pine River, Michigan wind S. S. E. light and clear. Heard reports of firearms and loud shouts as of a general melee, on the main. Directly saw two small boats comming off from the settlement at Pine River. Immediately saw another large fish boat in pursuit of the two ahead, all apparently filled with men. A brisk fire was kept up from the rear boat upon the two others. As they approached, saw there was trouble and excitement. The two boats ahead were endeavoring to get clear from the more powerful assailants in the larger boat, which was fast gaining on them, keeping up a brisk running fire without receiving a shot in return. In this condition the two head boats approached within hailing distance of us, and begged us to take them on board and afford them protection. I assented and they came on board. The boat in chase, now about fifty rods distant, "threw up" and lay on their oars, ceased fireing and hailed us, forbidding my receiving the "cursed Mormons" on board, that they were pirates, deserved death, etc., to all of which I mildly replied that the affair was rather an exciting one, and that I could not permit them to approach any nearer the vessel in their present excited state, at which they held a short consultation and then rowed back to Pine River. Upon an examination of the wounded and inquiring into the affair, I ascertained the following facts: The party consisted of fifteen men, among which were the high sheriff of the Mormon county, Beaver Island, and other officials, citizens, etc., all Mormons or adherents of the Latter Day Saints, six of whom from their severe wounds will probably fall martyrs to their faith. From all appearances they had a narrow escape from their infuriated pursuers. Rifle balls had shattered and riddled their boats, and had indiscriminately broken legs, arms, thighs, etc., of the boat's crew, but miraculously escaped taking effect in vital places.

"After the excitement had somewhat subsided and the wounded had been cared for. I obtained the following information in relation to the difficulty. It appears that Beaver Island is settled with a majority of Mormans. By the late legislative acts a county has been organized, and the inhabitants have proceeded to elect officers etc. The Mormons being in the ascendency, of course carried the election. The Gentiles being beaten, came to the determination to be non-actors; claimed no organizatoin, and would not recognize the authority of Mormon law."

The remainder of Capt. Stone's account relating to the collision is substantially the same as that given by Strang. On arriving at Beaver Island the party went ashore in their own boats.

The only matter at issue in this affair is that of motive, but beyond that we cannot see that there was anything of importance of significance in a free fight between a company of Mormons and a lot of fishermen, except its association with the present site of Charlevoix village. Of the final result of the affray there is no doubt; the fishermen, fearing they would be attacked by an overpowering number of Mormons, hastily left the place and scattered in various directions. At the circuit court held at St. James shortly after, several parties were indicated but none were ever arrested.

We confess to having been somewhat amused while reading various accounts of the scrimmage in which its details are minutely described and explained with all the earnestness and painstaking positiveness that might appropriately be expended upon the battle of Gettsburg; the amusing features of such narratives are brought out into bolder relief when it is remembered how decidedly "mixed" are all the features of a free fight.

Pine River appears to have remained an abandoned settlement after the hasty departure of the fishermen until the spring of 1854 when George Preston and family arrived from Beaver Island, and took possession of one of the houses on the north side of the river, and at once set about clearing the land and making arrangements for a permanent home. They found everything in and around the houses just as the former occupants had left them. Soon after the arrival of Preston, Galen B. Cole and family arrived from Beaver Island, and took possession of one of the houses on the north side of the river, and at once set about clearing land and making arrangements for a permanent home. They found everything in and around the houses just as the former occupants had left them. Soon after the arrival of Preston, Galen B. Cole and family arrived from the South Fox Island. They came in a small schooner called the "Dolphin," and took possession of another of the vacant houses as a temporary residence. This was the commencement of the Mormon settlement at this point, both Preston and Cole being Mormons.

Through the early part of the summer Preston had got the logs and lumber together, erected a house and had it almost completed when fire got into the woods and in the course of its march burned his new house to the ground. He immediately set at work and by fall had a new house built. In the fall Medad Thompson and family and Widow Ring arrived, and in the spring of 1855 Adam See and Daniel Alvord came, all of whom were additions to the Mormon settlement.

The Official Board of the local Methodist church announces the election of the following committees to lead the United Evangelism Mission from October 12th to 19th. The Rev. Lawrence Worth of Van Born Community church in Dearborn will assist the Rev. F. E. Mohr as the preaching evangelist.
The spiritual preparation committee is headed by the pastor Mr. Mohr with Wm. Petts, A. E. Arnold and Mrs. Wm. Petts as members. The public service committee includes Hal Hill, Melvin Somerville, Edward Davis, Mrs. Donald Haig, Mrs. Melvin Somerville and the pastor. The visitation Evangelism committee has Mrs. Lou Davis, chairman, Mrs. Eugene Fern, Miss Helen Schmidt and Mrs. Lester Fox. The assimilation of members committee has Mr. A. E. Arnold, chairman, Miss Ethel Winkler, Mrs. Hylon Heaton, jr., Mrs. Herb Gould, jr., Mrs. Harlan Ruback Mrs. Frank Mathers, Mrs. Wm. Petts, Mrs. A. E. Arnold, Miss Donna Camburn and Miss Yvonne Dixon, members.
The initial evangelism visitation program conducted by eight local youth and twelve from Lake Louise Methodist camp recruited new concerts for Boyne City and 9 for Boyne Falls church. The following new members were received into the local church last Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Nowland, Norman Nowland, Mrs. John Koepke, Janice Koepke, Mrs. Frank Mathers, Mrs. Ida Mae Heaton, Miss Louise Davis and Mrs. Warren Davis. The first eight received The Sacrament of Holy Baptism on September 21st, also.
On September 14th the following youth were baptised into the Christian faith: Misses Jennie Lee Bell, Jeanette Carson and Joan Carson. On September 21 Orville Lyons was baptised and Ezra Hetrick and Lee Hetrick received into the membership of Boyne Falls Methodist church. "New members will be received again on the 60th anniversary home-coming Sunday, at Boyne Falls, Oct. 19th." states the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Mohr.
Five new officers were chosen Monday, Sept. 22, to lead the Methodist Youth Fellowship in Boyne Falls this 1952-53 church year. Miss Mary Jo Newsom was elected president; Miss Shirley Gillespie, voce-president; Miss Karon Newsom, the Treasurer; George Rolls, worship chairman and Nancy Hunt, recreation leader. The pastor is the acting Counselor and 17 members are enrolled.

At one-o'clock on September 2, the students flocked into the school to start another new year at Boyne High School. Much to the student's delight, we had to go to school only one-half a day on Wednesday, September 3—Boyne's day at the fair. Nothing like starting the school year out right. Of course, the teachers made up for that by giving us assignments in the morning. "No rest for the wicked" and the teachers are excellent at carrying out that slogan.

As you wander down the halls these first few weeks, you will probably notice unfamiliar faces. We would like to welcome to Boyne City High the following students: Seventh grade — Carol Cook, Jean Stone, Ruth Walker, Bill Mohr. Eighth grade — Rex Bebe, Paul Drewany, Carol Gay, John Johnson, Helen Kish, Allen LaCross, Alma Leist, Kathleen Leist, Gordon Robinson, Avery Wilson. Ninth grade — Lucinda Burns, Terry Erno, Roger Keu, Mary Kish, Anna Leist, Hazel Leist, Robert Matts, Beverly Parmer, Richard Kenkiewicz, Joyce Stoneham, Virginia Tompkins. Tenth grade—Tex Bebe, and Patsy Gleeson. Eleventh grade—David Mohr. The twelfth grade got left out this time. No new members. We will try to give you more information about these new students as soon as we can get in contact with them.

Last Friday, September 12, grades nine through twelve had their first assembly meeting. A short talk was given by Dr. Whitten from the Children Fund of Michigan. (If anybody wasn't in the practice of brushing their teeth, I'll bet they are now). Following the talk, Gloria Callesen took over the meeting by introdusing the prospective cheerleaders. There were ten girls who tried out for it. The new cheerleaders from the ninth grade are Yvonne Dixon and Janet Coon. The eleventh grade cheerleaders are Shirley Hampton and Mary Melin. I hope we will be able to make your cheerleading more enjoyable by co-operating in yelling for you. Including the old cheerleaders the second team cheerleaders are Yvonne Dixon, Janet Coon, Ella Clute, and Joan Kujawski. The first team cheerleaders are Shirley Hampton, Mary Melin, Norma Plank and Gloria Callesen.

Boyne High School has been so fortunate as to have Darlene Colley come back this year to assist Betty Fall in the office. We tried to get her to say a few words for the column but she seems to be a little bashful since graduation. I'm sure she misses it tho.

There's also another new face in school only she isn't as new as others. That face is Eilleen Towne's (Hayes). She is back in school taking a post graduate course in English and Physics. Welcome beck Eilleen. We hope you find it as enjoyable as you did when you were a Senior back in '50.

By the way, did you students notice the improvements in our school this year? Look close and you might find them.

Mrs. Churchill's patience is wearing thin alreday. Shorty Smith is at it again. Mrs. Churchill has come very close to kicking him out of Speech and English. Only one more year, Bear with us!

BIGGEST MUSKIE CAUGHT

Just to prove that all the big ones don't get away, Walter Stanley of 14630 Riverside, Detroit, hooked and landed the year's biggest muskellunge in Michigan virtually within the shadows of the city's skyscrapers! Walt was trolling for walleyes in the Detroit River just before dark on September 9th when it happened.

His tackle was conventional for Detroit River pickerel trolling: inboard reel loaded with metal line to take it down in the fast current, terminated with a long stretch of 20 pound test leader, and a small lure known as a "Whammie." This is kind of a midget propellor, orange colored with black dots, about one inch wide. A treble gang of No. 6 hooks is attached, and on one of the hooks is a piece of white rubber another inch long cut out to resemble a small minnow.

No. Net! No Gaff!

Walt Stanley had caught one walleye and was on his last swing across the river when the line seemed to rise to the surface slowly. There was no vicious tug—just a rising of the metal line as the fish took the lure and began to come to the surface. Stanley struck solidly and thought he had a big walleye. It wasn't until 5 minutes later that the muskie came out of water far behind the boat to dispel any such belief, and one look at the size of the fish gave Walt the shakes!

He was alone in the small boat with no net, and no gaff. There were no other fishermen in sight, so he was on his own with the biggest fish he'd ever hooked. Six times before while pickerel trolling he had hooked muskies. Six times before the fish had torn loose—and this seventh fish was the biggest of them all! Gingerly he worked the big fellow alongside the boat, knowing that No. 6 hooks were never made to hold fish of this size. It took 20 minutes to subdue the giant to the point where Walt felt he could grab him by the gills and haul him aboard.

For this act alone Walter Stanley should be awarded a medal for bravery above and beyond the call of duty! The saw-like gills tore the flesh from his fingers, yet somehow he got the muskie into the boat, straddled it, and hammered the ugly head with a shoe, dodging the snapping jaws with teeth like a crocodile's!

Bloody Battle

After a long,long time Walter got up. The bottom of the boat was bathed with blood—a lot of it his own. But he had the fish—a muskie that scaled in at an even forty pounds, and was just under four feet long! Stanley was put under a doctor's care, with hands so badly lacerated that he was unable to go back to work for several days—a small price to pay, he says, for the battle he won in Michigan Outdoors!

Farmers Pick New P.M.A. Committees

Returns on the Charlevoix County PMA committee election held in Boyne City, Sept. 15, 1952 show that LeRoy Hardy of Wilson township was elected chairman, Archie Murphy of South Arm township, vice chairman, and Rowley Williams of Norwood township, member. Louis Jones of Evangeline township and Lee Sneathen, jr. of Hayes township were elected alternates.

All of the committee are farmers. All have served on the community PMA committees in their respective communities last year with the exception of LeRoy Hardy who was re-elected as chairman of the county committee after having served in that capacity for the past four years. Louis Jones served on the county PMA committee as third member during the years 1949-1951.

The county PMA committee attended an all day district meeting in Gaylord on Sept. 17, 1952 where the new 1953 ACP program was explained and discussed. Plans were made for two days of training for the new community committees held in the PMA office in Boyne City on October 6 and 7. The members of the community committees will be notified as to which meeting they will attend.

Following are listed names of men elected to serve on community PMA committees in their locality for the year 1953. These men were elected at an election conducted by mailed ballot during the past month.

Bay township: Roy Barkley, chairman; Tom Willis, vice chairman; Howard Skornia, regular member; Fred Stolt, first alternate and Clayton Boone, second alternate.

Boyne Valley, Chandler, and Hudson townships: Geo. Wm. Jankins, chairman, Marion Massey, vice chairman; Harry DeNise, regular member and Gustave Matz, first alternate.

Eveline township, Douglas Knudsen, chairman; Lawrence Elzinga, vice chairman: Kenneth Russell, regular member; Walter Kemp, first alternate, and Norbert Nachazel, 2nd alternate.

Hayes and Charlevoix townships: Lee Sneathen, jr. chairman; Robt. Straw, vice chairman; Clayton Smith, regular member; Peter Winnick, first alternate; and Lloyd Kuebler, second alternate.

Melrose and Evangeline townships: Louis Jones, chairman; Frank Paddock, vice chairman; James Habasko, sr., regular member; August Jensen, first alternate, and Joe Habasko, second alternate.

Marion and Norwood townships: Wm. Parsons, chairman; Archie Brown, vice chairman, John Wieland, third member; Charles Wiesler, first alternate.

Peaine township: Frank O'Donnell, chairman; Peter Johnston, vice chairman; James Gallagher, jr., regular member; Lawrence McDonough, first alternate; Francis Ricksgers, second alternate.

South Arm township: Wm. Boss, chairman, B. Shepard, vice chairman, Raymond Fisher, regular member; Archie Murphy, first alternate; Wm. Zoulek, second alternate.

Wilson township: Carl Knop, chairman, Charles Shepard, vice chairman, Hilbert Hardy, regular member; Charles Riedel, first alternate; Harvey Crozier, second alternate.

Members of these committees will make farm to farm contacts early this fall to assist the farmer in choosing the most important conservation practices for his farm in 1953.

Ask Yule Mailers To "Send It"

Parents, wives, and friends of servicemen who intend to send Yule gifts are reminded to shop early and wrap securely before sending their gifts between Oct. 15 and Nov. 15, the dates that have been set by the postal department for Christmas mailing.

Ministerial Group To Exhibit Bibles

In observance of Christian Education Week, the Boyne City Ministerial association has announced that it will have special Bible displays of the new American Standard Version on exhibit in the Bank, Kadens and the Sunnyside restaurant all next week.

The event marks the 500th anniversary of the translation of the King James Bible and displays will feature the new Bible as well as Bibles in several other languages.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

No Longer Two Sides to This Question!

Ever seen those two-family houses they have in some places—with separate front doors and porches—side by side? My sister owns half of one and lives in it, near Philadelphia.

Nice little frame home. Only Sis painted her half brown and the other family always painted theirs green. Ruined the effect—but for years neither family ever thought of suggesting that they both decide on a common shade.

Now Sis writes that their two-toned home is no longer. "I mentioned we were going to repaint," she says. "And they said let's get a color we all like. So we did. A nice shade of gray for both sides."

From where I sit, so often when there's a difference of opinion it's best to sit right down and work things out (like when our volunteer firemen decided to serve both lemonade and beer at their annual picnic last month). Don't let prejudices "color" your opinion of your neighbor. He'll probably be quite as open-minded as you are.

"It's Folks Like You"

It's folks like you we try to get to come into our store;
We want you one and all to come and then come back some more.
It's folks like you who buy the things that make the wheels go round,
Who keep the money here at home and help build up the town.
It's folks like you who work and save who made this country great,
By building up each hamlet in our county and our state. state.
So don't forget you mean a lot to folks like us at home;
We offer you our service so come in or use the phone.

It's folks like you who make each day a little brighter too,
When skies above are cloudy and we're feeling sort of blue.
It's folks like you who bring the warmth when everything seems cold,
Who put new life into the things that shabby look and old.
We're glad to have you folks as friends and customers as well,
Because we're glad to know the folks who always ring the bell.
